CONNECTING YOUR BUSINESS TO THE PULSE OF INNOVATION

Gray Cloak Aerospace enables organizational success by leveraging high-demand expertise in 5th Generation tactical aviation. Gray Cloak delivers unmatched professionalism to solve some of the defense sector's most complex problems relating to low-observable technologies. Gray Cloak's team of professionals represent decades of experience in operations, logistics, maintenance, command and control, cyber and security related to the world's most advanced fighters and bombers such as F-22, F-35, B-2, B-21, and NGAD. As a Service-Disabled Veteran Owned Small Business, Gray Cloak puts veterans first while delivering unmatched capability and value to its partners and clients.

Finding the Unicorns

THIS TYPE OF TALENT DOESN'T EXIST ON JOB BOARDS

It's all about relationships. Gray Cloak excels at building and maintaining a pool of exceptionally talented aerospace professionals who recruiters simply cannot access. We are known and trusted as a small business who takes care of our talent, our teammates, and our clients. Gray Cloak leverages relationships built over decades to find the niche expertise that can help get your team across the finish line.

A TEAMMATE YOU CAN TRUST

Gray Cloak Aerospace was founded by a combat-veteran fighter pilot, F-22 squadron commander, and 5th Gen expert. With decades of experience and thousands of flight hours in aircraft like the F-15C and F-22, our founder created a culture of excellence and integrity that you can count on. His business acumen and experience in acquisitions and security management ensure Gray Cloak can help you succeed.

VALUE YOU CAN COUNT ON

We believe in what we do, and our number one priority is to provide capability to warfighters. That means we operate a lean and efficient business model which minimizes overhead and optimizes results. This allows Gray Cloak to provide industry-leading compensation and benefits to our team members and unprecedented value to our clients. Razor-thin margins and a sharp pencil ensure a competitive price point and exceptional return on investment. Gray Cloak stands ready to help your team succeed today and into an uncertain future.
